Ben's Experience

Ben holds a Bachelor of Business/Commerce with majors in finance and entrepreneurship from Bond University. Leveraging this strong academic foundation, Ben applies a highly technical approach to both his financial analysis and writing. He has worked with a diverse range of clients across industries such as software development, advanced manufacturing, and bioscience, bringing a multidisciplinary perspective to his work.

Ben's experience on engagement teams during ATO and AusIndustry reviews has equipped him to effectively guide businesses through complex interactions with the regulators. He further applies this expertise and knowledge, in supporting clients and ensuring that their R&D applications are prepared in line with best practice and evolving regulator guidance.

Ben has a particular passion for supporting innovative businesses, especially those engaging in IT and software development initiatives poised to transform industries. He thrives on working with entrepreneurs and is committed to enhancing the cadence of innovation within Australian SMEs.
