About Omarr

I am a qualified Accountant and Certified Financial Planner® with over a decade of experience in the financial planning industry. Since commencing my career in 2013, I have advised a broad range of clients within two of the Big Four banks before establishing and operating my own independent financial planning practice.

I am committed to delivering high-quality, strategic advice and firmly believe that well-timed, tailored financial guidance can have a lasting and meaningful impact, helping clients make confident decisions about their financial future. I place a strong emphasis on building trusted, long-term relationships and ensuring advice remains aligned with each client's evolving objectives and circumstances.

Outside of my professional life, I stay busy with my two young boys, aged 4 and 1. I also enjoy travelling, cooking, and following cricket whenever I get the opportunity.

I am authorised to provide advice on the following areas on behalf of Gild Wealth:
